

Over 50 applications for our scholarships and bursaries were received by the end of May 2025, which were vetted for eligibility, and then shared with trustees for their individual assessment. The scoring of applications is based on a series of agreed-criteria which includes academic achievements, career and personal goals, and community engagement, as well as financial need.

The eight Trustees then met on June 24 to collate and compile the numerical assessments, and to allocate the available funds. We had a pot of $58,000.00 to distribute this year, and used it all, to provide the following eighteen (18) awards:

Some of our funds come from corporate or local organisations, such as the ELM Foundation, 100 Fine Gentlemen of Oceanside Who Give a Damn, and our very own CFUW PQ Club Grant from the Book Sale proceeds, for which we are very grateful. However, the majority of our funds come from the huge hearts of our club members. Our grateful thanks to all of you: your hard work over the club year leading up to the book sale; working at the book sale itself; and the many donations, bequests, and legacies from current and past members and their families.

Because of all of you, 20 women from Oceanside are one step closer to their goals. That's certainly something to be proud of! THANKS!
